

Residents cautioned about “recycling survey”

APRIL 23, 2015 – Niagara Region has received a number of complaints from residents about what appears to be a bogus telephone survey about recycling. The Region, which is responsible for Niagara’s recycling programs, is not conducting a survey of residents about any recycling or waste-related matters.

Those who contacted the Region indicate they were asked a number of questions about their recycling practices and were also asked to provide some personal information, including periods when they are not at home.

Niagara Region is advising residents who are asked to participate in this survey to contact police.
